EX LIBRIS

ANY an Assumption student has read the Latin words on the scroll above the front entrance of the Memorial Science Building: many passers-by have asked the meaning of the words, "Bonitatem, disciplinam et scientiam doce me".

These words were written by a Wise Man, divinely inspired, a thousand years before Our Lord. They represent a truth often forgotten even by educators. Your college is directed by a religious community which has made these words its motto.

Knowledge is not an end in itself but a means. The use made of knowledge can be good, indifferent or bad. It is like a sharp-edged tool that can be used most effectively by a skilled and careful worker but which can inflict serious injury upon a worker who is awkward or careless.

True education must provide safeguards for the safe and prosperous use of knowledge. Assumption believes the Wise Man — it has tried, with God's grace, to develop in you, its graduates, goodness and self-control that in your lives knowledge may be most valuable and most fruitful.

A MESSAGE FROM THE REGISTRAR

*I*NTELLECTUAL isolation is as futile and as deadly as national isolation. You have a spiritual and social duty to share the things you have received. Do not bury your talents or your head in the sands of life.

Assumption College's PURPOSE...

ASSUMPTION COLLEGE tries to impart to her students a Christian education. She tries to prepare the minds and wills of her youth so that they will have the right goals to aim at and the right defenses to depend upon in the all-important game of Life. She is opposed to the notion of so-called "academic freedom" which many schools advocate, simply because this "academic freedom" can undermine all freedom and can lead to the slavery of both man and society. Assumption has taught, and always will teach, principles upon which are based all law and order and good government.

These are some of her fundamental tenets:

She Believes and Teaches:

- that God is the Creator, Redeemer and Ruler of man and the Universe;
- that Christ is God, the Son, and that His teachings are the Truth;
- that man must obey God;
- that man has certain natural rights which come to him from God and not from the State;
- that man does not belong "totally" to the State;
- that the family is the fundamental unit of society and that the home should be a holy place;
- that private property is a right of natural law, but private property has social obligations;
- that both Capital and Labor have not only rights, but duties because of these rights;
- that persecution and intolerance of "races" is evil;
- that liberty is a sacred thing;
- that just laws regulating liberty for the common good, must be obeyed;
- that Christ's moral teachings must regulate the personal, family, economic, political and international life of men if civilized society is to prevail.

VALE...

Alma Mater

By JAMES E. HOLDWICK

F

AREWELLS are again the custom at the close of another scholastic year. As one gazes back at the hours spent in serious thought at desk with pen in hand, or at the lighter moments of recreation in happy surroundings with generous companions, a sense of accomplishment overwhelms one. The many hardships and pangs of defeat are no longer a burden and all that remains is the satisfaction that accompanies a job well done. Another chapter in life's drama has been a success.

We of the graduating class are grateful for having had the opportunity, the encouragement, and the zeal to effect a completed college career. We are especially thankful for having had the privilege of studying at Assumption College where goodness, discipline, and knowledge fuse in the well rounded personality. Special thanks is extended to the parents for their loving support, to the teachers, the Basilian Fathers, who always succeed so very very well in guiding young men along the road to knowledge, and indeed to all who had part in our spiritual, mental, and physical development. All that is asked in return is a little love for "love demands but love alone." Will we forget? A prayer of thanks issues from our lips at this solemn moment of recollection. Truly God has been goodness itself in offering us the privilege of a true Christian education.

Yes we have reached another final climax in life's great drama. As we emerge, somewhat bewildered, from this home—this sanctuary of arts and science, and prepare for lofty flight, our ambitions rise to the very heavens. Herein we are not alone but in harmony with those gone before.

But what could be more fatal than to falter and plunge into the dark depths of these turbulent times? Oh God of light save us from this disaster.

Farewell Alma Mater. You have given us the light. 'May it never be "kept under a bushel but ever upon a pedestal that its rays might extend to all," and pierce the darkness.

Student Council Report

Many years from now, I wonder just what the students who have completed this year will think of when that name is mentioned. All who are pictured in this book, gathered here by the strange winds of divine Providence—in this long moment of time—will have had infused into their personality new experiences which will profoundly affect their lives — both here in time and after time is gone. Some of the experiences through which they've passed might be said to have left the bitter taste of gall in their mouths. Other experiences will cause, at the remembrance, the heart to lift and the mind to pause and search gropingly backward to recall the joy and lightness of that time.

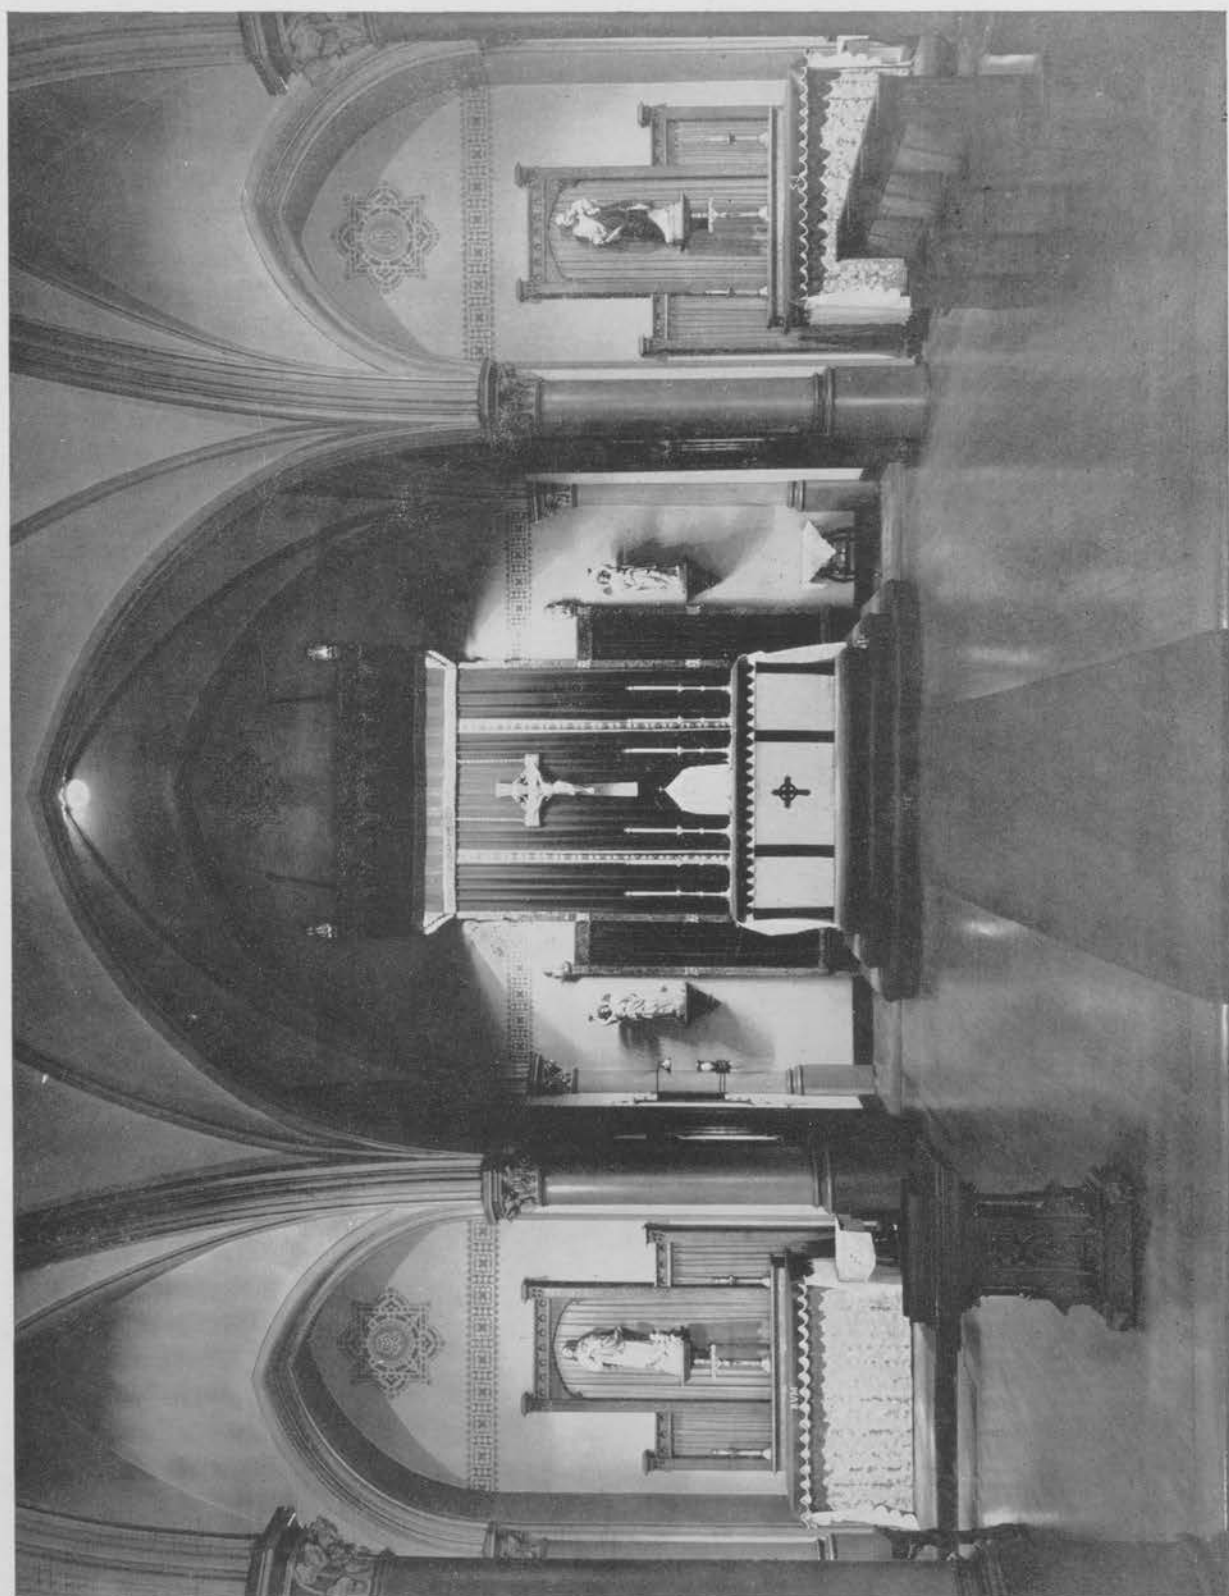

But all of these experiences can be classified in three ways — those endeavors at which we were most successful; those only moderately so, and those which were failures. As the responsibility for them rests upon both the Student Council and the Student Body, so the credit or blame must be apportioned between each. The latter condition — that of failure and the blame attached to it—must not carry the livid mark of bitterness with it. One might say—"such things are to be expected", and indeed so they are. And let it remain at that.

But whatever the degree of success the achievements of the year may bear with them—it is all marked upon each of you, to be carried about as part and parcel of your being—wherever you go and whatever you do. For my part, I hope that pleasant recollections only will surge into your mind when you remember Assumption. I know that we have tried to make it so for you and that you have responded in the same vein.

I personally have enjoyed and am thankful for the faith you have placed in me as your representative this year. May I close with these words—as the same urgings of God's Providence have gathered you here, so when you come to leave may they urge you on farther into some other place, whatever it may be, which, hopefully, will be quite as pleasant as Assumption.

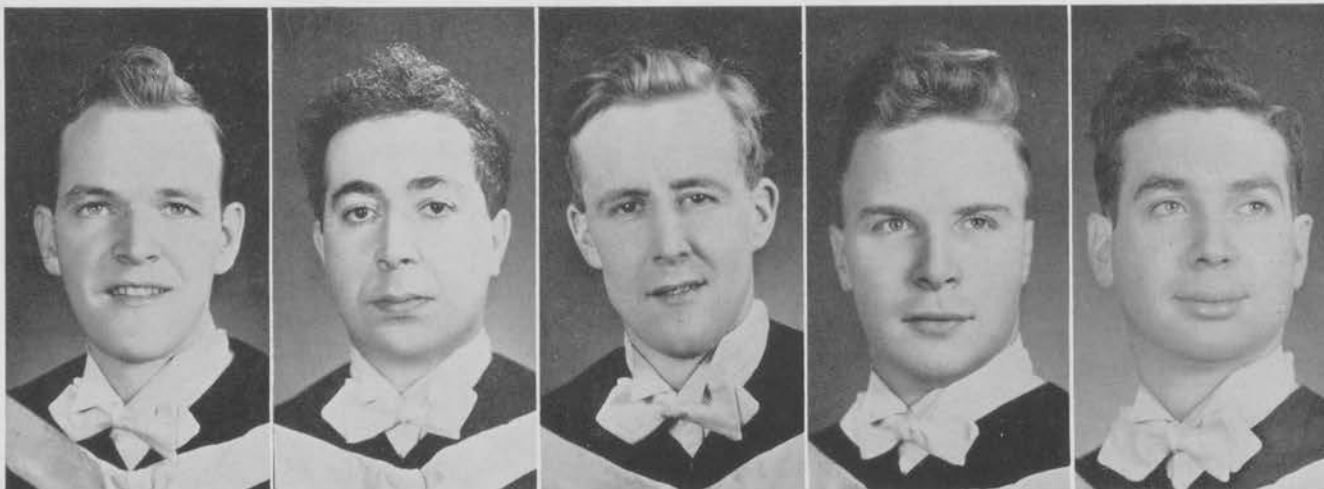

NORMAN J. HARRISON,
President.

Religious Societies...

The Catholic is essentially an organized believer. Catholic action is the laity organized for the apostolate, for the conquest of Christ's kingdom. On the campus of a Catholic college, the mission of the Church is obviously the Christian education of Catholic youth.

Here at Assumption College a Young Catholic Students cell has been established. Its members are organized to assist students to become actively interested in their own education and to assist the Church in her educational mission.

The Legion of Mary fulfils the duty of personal sanctification through prayer and Catholic action in the spirit of Mary herself—modestly, silently, obediently. At Assumption the Legion of Mary has for its function the perpetuation of Christian knowledge and the visiting of sick students.

Music Appreciation Society

The days of embryo are finished. The trembling fledgling that was the Music Appreciation Society of the past three years has now bounded forth in all the virility and life of a fully matured campus society. Such sundry items as an enrolled membership of forty-two students, a concert in the Prince Edward Hotel Ballroom, audiences at both Jazz concerts totalling 1750 people, a Christmas party complete with floor show and sound pictures, and a civic concert in the Vanity Theatre to help financially establish the Windsor Inter-Racial Council are all elements conclusive to this fact.

Paced by a smoothly functioning executive, the extremely co-operative role played respectively by the various members of the Society has been one causing no end of surprise and esteem from the student body at large. The speedy, cheerful and efficient manner in which the rank and file members of the M.A.S. swept, tidied and folded chairs back into place after each public concert was directly in keeping with the Society's pledge of co-operation with any person or organization connected with its activities on the campus. Thus consistently and thrillingly has the membership proven that Assumption College spirit is a strikingly live thing.

To enumerate the entire lengthy schedule that has kept M.A.S. members spinning like assorted tops, would detail more space than allotted here. Be it sufficient to say that by the twenty-first of March, the date of the Society's final concert, the entire picture of M.A.S. activities will have evolved around fourteen general meetings, six Sunday public concerts, four house concerts, two programmes for the Sisters and occupants of St. John's Home For The Aged, and music facilities for the Dramatic Society and informal campus dances.

Standout programmes have been many and varied indeed. A packed ball room at the Prince Edward Hotel witnessed the marvellous virtuosity, personality, and artistic finesse of violinist Lasse Pohjola. Lovers of Latin-American themes were thrilled by Ronnie Sweet, extraordinary child pianist from Windsor, and Freda Tosti, brilliant student violinist from the Ursuline Academy, as the Society opened its 1947-48 season in the College gymnasium. Jazz devotees received their "kicks" from top-flight exponents of "La Musique Extraordinaire" who came from the city's best dance bands to fill out the "must" on every M.A.S. yearly schedule, providing a concert in each semester.

Again kind and thoughtful Windsor ladies in the persons of Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. MacClean and Miss Cruise aided our social life by extending their homes for the Society's use in enabling the latter to present its series of house concerts. And again the theme "Hemispherical Solidarity Through Music" adopted by the Society at the outset of the year was accentuated via recording and annotation in comprehensive enlightening fashion both during these enjoyable "at homes" and at the general meetings which featured special speakers. Mr. Gluns, director of Latin-American Music for the C.B.C., was especially significant in this latter regard in his revealing talk to the M.A.S. in the College Lounge, February 11.

Finally although still in the formative stage the Society's last two public concerts—"Afro-Americana" and the "Doctor Sykes Choral Programme"—should serve to fittingly crown a strikingly successful season. The former concert scheduled for the Vanity Theatre, Sunday, February 29, is rapidly being moulded into the greatest undertaking by the M.A.S. thus far.

Assumption College Glee Club

Last year, under the direction of Mr. Frank Menichetti, the Assumption College Glee Club was organized. It was composed of students of the College, and no previous singing experience was required. As a result, the first rehearsals could have been enough to make the strongest men quake, or give up; but neither Mr. Menichetti, nor the members of the club were stopped by the apparently insuperable obstacles presented by the problem of not only training a group of voices, but also of blending them into a harmonious group.

The efforts of these men were not wasted, and by the end of the year, the Glee Club was able to look back upon a number of successful performances, and was also able to look to the new year of 1947-48 with the hope the Glee Club could be reformed around a nucleus composed of those who returned for a second year.

With this in mind, Mr. Menichetti, in the first student assembly, asked for volunteers. The turnout was exceptionally good, and the future looked promising. Unfortunately, there were a large number who thought it would require too much time, though it was only a case of one rehearsal a week, and dropped out, along with another group who did not have the interest to stick it out.

The remainder, approximately thirty-six of them, settled down to the long hard grind so reminiscent of last year. The repertoire was constantly being enlarged, and much time was spent in improving the existing repertoire.

The club was slow in starting its public appearances but once started, in the middle of March, it expects to present a rapid succession of concerts in, and outside of the College and the city.

The choice of songs, and the rehearsals are handled by Mr. Menichetti, but these are not the only activities of the club. For the other activities, the members elected an executive composed of Al Schaljo, President, Don O'Brien, Vice-President, Jim McCarthy, Treasurer, and Bob Agness, Secretary. With the dues charged the members, these men were able to arrange parties, to make Glee Club participation more interesting, in November, at Christmas, and a stag sometime near the end of the year.

Before closing, we, the members of the Glee Club, would like to extend our thanks to the Student Council for its assistance. Our deepest and special thanks, we extend to Fr. Harrison who has been of great assistance and encouragement, and to Mr. Menichetti, who by giving so much of his time and energies has made this apparent impossibility become a reality.

It is our sincere hope that the efforts expended in these two years will not go to waste, and that next year will see the Glee Club of Assumption College the most important organization in the school, and one of the best known in the city. That is our request of the Glee Club of 1948-49. Good luck, and "We'll be hearing you."

The College Orchestra

The noise of a sweet and jivy nature, heard floating from the Music Hall on occasions, carries with it a story known only to a few.

"Red" Nichols may have had his "FIVE PENNIES"; Heine Schultz, his "HUNGRY FIVE", but Assumption College can boast of Joie's "AWKWARD EIGHT",—an organization of real live musicians and each one famous in his own right.

The "AWKWARD EIGHT" came into being last November in answer to a demand for music at the proposed College Variety Show, as well as to satisfy a desire on the part of some College men to perform.

Under Joe Stefani's able direction, the boys have been practising faithfully once a week, and although the Variety Show is a very doubtful number, they expect to make an appearance at the Annual Arts Banquet with the College Glee Club to provide some sweet and solid music.

The Orchestra, several of whose members were pictured recently in the Windsor Daily Star, numbers amongst its members, Gord. Bertrand, the little man from Windsor with the BIG trumpet and Gentleman George Taliento, his side kick with the Rochesterian musical background.

London, Ontario and Rochester, N.Y., donated Pete "Nipper" Firlotte with that talking Sax and Bob "THUNDER" Brauch respectively. The man buried behind the pots and pans and the other "Kitchenware" dear to the heart of a drummer, is Louis "Sock-em" Stark who hails from Toledo, Ohio (almost!).

The Master of the "Down Beat" and a faithful member of the group, George "CHOPIN" Keogh hails from the down river district, Windsor makes the final contribution to our Orchestra in the person of Kaye Francis and his Big Bass Viol which puts the "oomph" in the organization and Joe "The Maestro" Stefani, under whose careful direction the group has made such marked improvement.

These boys have given their time and efforts faithfully each week primarily in the hopes that they could make some worthwhile contribution to the activities of the College as well as for their own pleasure. They are to be congratulated for their fine spirit, and that in the face of several disappointments and many obstacles. It is to be hoped that this is the significant beginning of a Musical group which will be a definite asset to the musical and social life of our School.

Director, Joe Stefani (clarinet); Bob Brouch (alto sax); Pete Firlotte (alto sax); George Keogh (piano); Kaye Francis (bass).

Quindecem Historical Society

The activities of the Quindecem Historical Society were resumed for the second year of its existence in the fall of the year. A committee of three had been appointed the previous year to carry over the work and to see to it that the Society came to life after the school year picked up.

The new slate of officers chosen contained the names of W. Clarkin (President), W. Hardy (Vice-President), J. Price (Secretary), and G. Dwyer (Sergeant-at-Arms). With this group directing things the year's activities got off to a good start. The programs given by the members dealt with the "Prospects of the Peace", "Britain's Economic Recovery", and other topics which were sure to provoke—and indeed did provoke—a lot of argument.

Perhaps the highlight of the year, however, was the visit of Jan Chicienowski, formerly the Polish Ambassador to the U. S. (during the war years). The diplomat—polished, precise, and dignified—gave the members of the Historical Society many insights into the behind-the-scenes movements of recent events.

Equally as adsorbing was the informal talk given by the noted psychiatrist Dr. Beryl D. Orris. This lecturer had been working for some time among the displaced persons of Europe. He spoke for some length concerning the conditions of life prevalent among these unfortunate people.

It would not be too much to mention also the program presented to the Society by Mr. Fuller, a principal of one of the local high schools, and a historian of merit. Mr. Fuller gave an address concerning the history of the Windsor area—a subject upon which there existed a great deal of ignorance on the part of many of the members of the Society.

For these interesting programs, and the where-withal which brought them about, the Quindecem Historical Society—its members and its leaders—wish to thank very sincerely both the above mentioned persons and also the Student Council, which very generously gave funds for the support of the Society.

ASSUMPTION COLLEGE LAW CLUB

STANDING—P. Hopperton, E. Awrey.

Law Club of Assumption

The Law Club was formed this year with the view in mind of giving all prospective law students some introductory lectures in the legal field. The first talk was given by Mr. James Holden, B.A., an Assumption graduate who is now practicing law in Windsor. Mr. Holden gave a broad picture of Osgoode Hall and what the student should expect from that venerable institution. His words of advice and caution were certainly worth while and provided the Club with a good understanding of the principles of the practice of law.

It was decided that, rather than obtaining guest speakers, each member of the Club should deliver a seminar on certain preliminary phases of the work which will be encountered at the Law School. In order to facilitate the procuring of source material for these papers the Essex County Law Association very kindly granted the Law Club members access to their Law Library in the Canada Building. Without this assistance it is doubtful that the Club would have flourished inasmuch as source material for legal work is not easily obtainable.

Because the organization was not formed until late in the year it was possible to have only two papers delivered. The first was given by John Padmos on the types of law—common, civil and criminal—and the differences between them. The second was provided by Elmer Awrey on the hierarchy and the functions of the courts.

The difficulties of keeping an organization of this type functioning have proven to be somewhat difficult because of the fact that none of the club members have had any previous insight into the workings of the profession nor have had any previous contact with the law in any way. But everyone has kept in mind that he will be combating torts, contracts, etc. in the very near future and that any head start that might be obtained now will prove of value at Osgoode where the competition these days is very stiff indeed.

It is hoped that the Law Club will start off on an earlier foot next fall and in so doing will accomplish a great deal more than the original group has done this year.

English Club

The English Club of Assumption College was reorganized again this year to continue the initial motion of this literary group formed last year.

The work covered in the 1946-1947 session had been on a very wide plan embracing many authors and novels. It was decided by the leaders of last year's group that this procedure did not suit the fundamental purpose of the Club, namely, the development of a critical awareness of the novel as a work of art and an understanding of how it functions. Consequently the suggestion was handed down to the present group that they concentrate on vertical rather than horizontal analysis and limit their material to one select novel. By studying the novel as a literary form the group hoped that instead of a superficial knowledge of various novels we would attain a better appreciation of the construction of the novel as a means for aesthetic expression.

Accepting these suggestions this year the Club decided to study the novel "A Passage to India" by E. M. Forster, using the text "Fiction and the Reading Public" by Q. D. Leavis as a guide in this study.

The first meeting of the 1947-1948 series was held on December 10, 1947 with Father LeBel acting as moderator. At this gathering the election of new officers was held. The Chairman and Secretary, Mr. Fleche and Mr. Teahan were relieved of their positions by Mr. Lark and Mr. Sullivan respectively. The Constitution was revised and adopted; the Club thus possesses a permanent body of rules and regulations to assure its perpetuation.

The next meeting was held on January 14, 1948. The members were honored with a paper by Professor Kenner.

Professor Kenner lectured on the history of the novel as a literary form. He outlined the evolution of the novel from its early form, which was presented for general public amusement, to its present day form of three-fold stratification which is presented to the paralleling three levels, high, low and middle, of intellectual appetite.

On February 4, Mr. Watson gave a paper on the plot and structure of "A Passage to India". As this paper aroused the members to engage in an animated discussion the meeting was unanimously considered a success. Also at this meeting it was agreed that all members would attend the lecture of novelist, Bruce Marshall on Sunday, February 8th. The Club did so and was honored to have its picture taken and to discuss certain questions with Mr. Marshall.

Stemming from the business meeting of February 18th the Club inaugurated a new policy on February 25th which added not a little to the social enjoyment of its subsequent sessions; through March and April tea and cake were served at the meetings. The members also heard worthy papers from Mr. Taylor, Mr. Wolf, Mr. Reed, and Mr. Sullivan. These gentlemen used Mr. Forster's "Aspects of the Novel" as a guide in their examination of "A Passage to India."

In the tradition of last year, the English Club ended the year with a gala Social Evening. Movies were shown followed by a buffet lunch in the Club Room of the Air Force Building. In an informal discussion at this time the members appraised the work accomplished since December and laid plans for the reorganization of the Club next October.

Philosophy Club

It is significant that conflict, rife in a sanguine world, moves in bold relief against a receding background of peace.

Conflict seems to be the shibboleth of civilization. Science struggles to overcome our environment. Religion nurtures a reconciliation between God and men. Philosophy works to find a basic reality. It seems that the whole world is a confinity of interwoven conflicts, struggles, travails which each individual spends his life-time resolving into progress; progress which is seen to be the planning intelligence of men searching out the planned intelligence of God, the inexorable expansion of power in the pursuit of liberty.

Progress is most patently manifested in the accomplishments of science, in the power of religion, in the force of ideas, the subtlest tools at man's command. If science, religion, art tell the story of men seeking to satisfy their desire for material goods, their desire for a knowledge and love of God, their desire for beauty—if these be the story of our life, then philosophy is the story behind the story.

The Philosophy club stands in evidence of this principle.

This year Dr. Barath high-lighted the meetings with an interesting account of Dr. Gilson. Since Dr. Barath had spent 3 years of study under Gilson, this talk was authoritative. It was also timely for soon afterwards Dr. Gilson, himself, favored the Philosophy Society with two deeply provocative talks, one on the need of philosophical education and another on Economic Democracy, which he proposed as the only workable conclusion to the present politico-economic problems.

This closes another successful year for the Philosophy club of Assumption. The president and its faithful members look forward to another profitable year of philosophy.

DRAMATIC SOCIETY (EXECUTIVE)

J. Harris, J. Strickland, J. Fedigan (President), I. Goodman, J. Wanko.

The Assumption Dramatic Society

In November the dramatic season at Assumption College began with the solo-dramatic performance of Mary Louise Hickey. Miss Hickey's vehicle was John Van Druten's play "I Remember Mama". Skilfully adapting herself to each varying accent and mode, Miss Hickey performed to the enjoyment of the entire audience.

The Dramatic Society in January presented "The Genius", a three act comedy written by Tom Adams, a graduate of Assumption in 1947. Through the combined efforts of the director, Father Swan, the author, and members of the cast, "The Genius" was heralded by the Windsor Daily Star as "a play that all Windsor should see". The cast was praised for its skilful and interpretive performance. Its author, Tom Adams, was acclaimed in the same article as, "one of Canada's most promising young playwrights". However, without the splendid cooperation and work of the stage crew and other "behind the scenes" workers, the play could not have been the huge success it was.

It is to be hoped that future dramatic groups at Assumption enjoy the same enthusiasm of student body and audience that the Dramatic Society of 1947-48 has enjoyed.

Spanish Club

One of the newcomers to the group of Assumption College Societies is the Spanish Club. This fledgling organization was established with a dual purpose in mind. The emphasis in the class room is generally placed upon grammar and translation with a consequent neglect of the spoken language. The primary end of the club has therefore been to increase speech facility and to familiarize the members with basic, everyday idioms.

Secondly, class room routine is at best uninspired, so the second aim of the group has been an attempt to show the richness and beauty of the Spanish culture, in such a way as to provoke a livelier interest in the language. The quaint customs, exquisite handicrafts, and lively music, catch the spirit and tempo of a gay, yet profound people.

With these ends in mind, the society was organized early in the school year, under the auspices of Mr. J. Slavin, C.S.B. Under his guidance, the objectives of the club were largely realized. To his advice and efforts in procuring material for club use, a large measure of our success is due.

To supplement the conversational drill, a varied entertainment program was offered. At three of the meetings, scenic films were shown through the co-operation of the Mexican consul; the films proved to be both interesting and entertaining. The balance of the entertainment consisted of short talks on Spanish history and culture, and musical programs conducted by Salvador Ferraras.

The club was fortunate in having among its members, a group of Latin-Americans, who were able to give valuable assistance in conversational drill. The work of the club would have been much harder and the results much less significant, if this group had not given their help so readily. The membership owes them a vote of thanks for their fine work in behalf of the club.

The officers elected for the year are, Eric Gravenor, president, Harry Caston, entertainment chairman, and Vincent Lindisch, secretary.

Although the past year has proven the club a great success, there is a vastly expanded program outlined for next year. Both facilities and membership will be increased, and the club will be able to offer a more rounded program to its members. You can look for a vastly improved society in the coming year, one that will better fulfil its double aim of conversational help and appreciation of Spanish culture.

ECONOMICS CLUB

J. Brownlie, V. Halle, R. Riggs (President), Mr. G. Horne, A. Sovran.

Economics Club

A new club was instituted at Assumption College, during the year 47-48, a club born of necessity, due to the great growth of interest in the greatest of the Social Sciences, Economics. This great event came about late in November, 1947. For at an informal meeting of a large number of students interested in Economics and Commerce, the Economics Club sponsored by both Father F. Burns and Mr. G. Horne, the faculty advisers, passed from just an embryonic germ to an actual state. At this first meeting, the officers for the year were elected: President, R. W. Riggs; Vice-President, M. Brownlie; Secretary, A. Sovran; Treasurer, K. G. Rose, and Manager of Publicity, V. Halle.

The first formal meeting of the Club was held December 6, in the College Library, at which both Father F. Burns and Mr. Gilbert Horne, gave short talks on the place and value of Economics in our modern society. Following these short talks, a round table discussion followed on Immigration, between Canada and the United States, with Mr. Horne acting as Moderator.

The following week, on the 15th of December, Mr. Krug, a well known Windsor broker and finance theorist was brought to the school, and spoke on Money and Finance to a large group of members. With these views in mind, another monetary theorist was invited at the beginning of the second semester. Thus, on February 4, Mr. Burman, a speaker of Technocracy Inc., appeared before the membership, and expounded his views concerning economic policy in the North American hemisphere. A heated discussion followed in which many of members were in complete disagreement with these new theories.

The second round table discussion was held Monday, February 16, at which Mr. G. Horne, gave a short talk on the Marshall Plan, its structure, and implications for both Europe and Canada. This talk was followed by a round table discussion by the remainder of the group, with the speaker, Mr. Horne acting as Moderator. Also at this meeting, Mr. V. Halle, the manager of publicity for the club, introduced the first brief of the Constitution of the Economics Club of Assumption College, which laid down the aims and purposes, and set up plans for a yearly election of officers, thus ensuring that the Club will continue to function each year.

At the last meeting of the year before the banquet, Mr. Meanwell, a past graduate of Assumption College and now a practising accountant in Windsor, gave a very interesting talk concerning the possibilities that the field of accountancy holds open for those who enter it. A special invitation was extended to the Accounting class and a great many of these students of Commerce were present in addition to regular members of the Club.

The Club closed its books for the year so to speak, at its banquet, at which the honorary speaker addressed the faculty advisers and the membership, on the subject of recent developments in theories of money and finance in the United States.

DISCUSSION CLUB

STANDING—B. McGuire, R. McLaren.

Discussion Club of Assumption College

The Assumption College Discussion Club is not a new organization. It had its origin at some time in the far distant past, and has slowly grown since then. During the school year of '46 - '47, the organization boasted almost fifteen regular members, as well as several occasional visitors.

At the last meeting of the school year this organization elected the men to whom they wished to entrust the preservation and improvement of their organization during the year '47-'48.

Thus it was that with the assistance of Doug Turner, as Vice-President, and Ernie Jolie, as Secretary-Treasurer, our President, Bill Hardy, was able to direct the activities of the club this year.

For the inaugural meeting there was a large turnout, and it was decided that we should subscribe to the Canadian Forum, which sends out weekly bulletins on certain topics, and sponsors a weekly program on these subjects over the C.B.C. The individual Discussion groups are asked to discuss certain questions and send in their answers, which are read over the air, if they are thought to best express a certain trend of thought. In this way the Assumption Discussion Club was quoted several times.

The range of subjects discussed in the course of one school year is wide enough to allow for almost any field of thought. The stress is placed on topics of current interest. Such subjects as Canadian Immigration Policy, Foreign Relations, Labour Relations, Improving the Teaching Profession, Jail Conditions, Is War Inevitable?, will give an idea of the scope covered by the discussions.

The stress in the club has always been on informality. In order to better achieve this, the meetings were usually held in the cafeteria so that the students could have a coffee or a smoke if they so desired.

The outstanding feature of the club is the fact that although all subjects discussed are of a controversial nature, and different sides of the questions are supported, in violent argument, there are never any hard feelings harboured by those who take part.

GERMAN CLUB

SEATED—W. Maier, J. Strickland, Rev. A. Weiler, C.S.B., J. Allison.
STANDING—J. Appel, A. Melega, W. Wark, F. Holland, D. Gallagher.

The Assumption German Club

Midway along the first semester last fall, a number of students of the German language began asking themselves the following questions:—"Of what practical value will these German classes be to me after I am finished school?" The conclusion arrived at by most of these men was not encouraging. They realized that it does not make any difference how many rules and exceptions to rules a person knows. The most important thing about any language is to learn how to speak it, not only read it. With this idea in mind these students approached Father Weiler and asked him if he would assist them as a faculty advisor if a German Club was founded.

A meeting of all interested students was called and the following executives were elected: President, J. R. Strickland; Vice-President, W. Maier; Secretary, J. Allison; Treasurer, J. Trese. The policy of the club was stated as:—The Assumption College German Club will meet every Wednesday evening at the college workshop and a one hour meeting shall be held for the purpose of increasing its members knowledge of practical German conversation.

A popular activity of the club is the reading and the discussion of the German periodical, "Jugendpost". This four page newspaper comes monthly and contains many biographies of famous German poets, painters, and composers. It also has many short articles concerning the present condition in Germany as well as its future hopes; also a song corner and a multitude of jokes are in every issue. A section of the last page of every issue also contains a word-list of especially difficult German words and their English equivalents.

In conclusion I should like to thank Father Weiler for his patient and very necessary help during the year, Father Harrison for his kindness in letting us use the organ when necessary, and the Students Council for their co-operation. I should also like to hurl a challenge to future students of German—that they might build upon these foundations and finally produce a club which will be indispensable to the college and an integral part of every German course.

Canadian Officers Training Corp

Soon after the war ended, the Canadian Army organized on a peace-time basis. The new organization called for a small but highly trained Active Force, a large and loosely knit Reserve Army, a body of Technical Reserves and the Research Department.

The Reserve Army was to be the actual basis of the Army that would be organized should hostilities ever arise. This branch was to contain a nucleus of well trained officers and N.C.O.'s and only a relatively small proportion of other ranks. Around this nucleus of Commissioned and Non-Commissioned officers would be built the full scale army if ever a general mobilization became necessary.

In order to ensure a constant supply of Officers of high calibre, the C.O.T.C. was reorganized. Cadets, on being accepted by a selection board, were to take ten hours of lectures during the school year and then go to some permanent camp for four months during the summer. The Cadets were to be commissioned as provisionary Second Lieutenants during their training period which is designed to last three years.

In the first year of the training plan, Lieutenants Boak, Warwick, Hebert, Riggs and Wigle were accepted for training as infantry officers, McAlpine and Hull went to the Armoured Corps and Venney, Golinker, Berthiaume and Watson as Gunner Officers. Lieut. Bell went to the Ordnance Corps in Montreal.

At the completion of the ten lectures given by Major Parker at Assumption, the group split up and went to their respective units for summer training.

The Vets in the party were very surprised to find that peace time soldiers are treated somewhat like human beings . . . They found no incessant roll calls, no web equipment to be shined, no garbage cans to be scrubbed, and in 'K' troop, after the first week, no marching! The Infantrymen were not so fortunate.

By the time the Cadets had gotten used to not calling the Sergeant-Major 'Sir', training was well under way. A fair amount of time was spent in lecture rooms learning the technical end of gunnery but the interesting part came when actual schemes with live ammunition were carried out. Firing was done with 25 prs., 5.5 inch Gun-Hows, Anti-Tank weapons and Self-Propelled Guns. Besides the work of parade the Cadets will long remember the nights spent in the Mess, the weekends at Clear Lake, Colonel Todd's famous mustache, the Hostess House, The Brandon Bullet, The Battle at 'B' Mess, the leaky roof of L18 and the smoke bomb in the wash room.

The Infantry Corps spent their summer at Camp Borden, 60 miles north of Toronto, but only twenty miles from Wasaga Beach. The Mess was by no means elaborate but served delicious meals and coffee and sandwiches at 9:30 each evening. Athletic cadets had a well equipped Gym, playing fields, tennis courts, and two swimming pools at their disposal.

In the evenings there was a choice of two theatres with new pictures every other day, or a "quiet" evening in the Mess (ask two-bottle Warwick).

Lt.-Col. Buell, Infantry Camp Commander, formed a Cadet Council which ironed out many problems in a democratic manner.

The Infantry spent a week at Meaford which is the armoured corps and infantry training ground. Life here was no holiday with sleeping quarters in an old barn and a broken down shack for a mess.

This year any of the cadets of last year will be returning to camp accompanied by the new members who are spending their first year in C.O.T.C.

U. N. T. D.

A University Naval Training Division was initiated at Assumption College this year. The parent organization was formed at the University of Western Ontario during the war but it was not until the summer of '47 that the decision to start a Division at Assumption was arrived at. Consequently the U.N.T.D. was launched with a few handicaps and as a result the turn out this year was not too encouraging but it is hoped that some good publicity will be forthcoming from those few freshmen who have started their training.

All lectures and drills take place at Windsor's H.M.C.S. "Hunter" on Monday nights. The lectures delve into every aspect of Naval operations in order to give the U.N.T.D. men a general all-round knowledge of the Navy. Since all U.N.T.D. people are prospective officers the training which they receive is intended to give them a solid basis when they attain their commissioned rank. The Navy believes that every officer should come up through the "lower decks" in order to give him a thorough understanding of the problems and life in general of the ordinary seaman. The benefit of this experience has already shown itself to Assumption's U.N.T.D.'s and will prove itself to the people who follow them.

The U.N.T.D. basketball team, led by Tom Smith and John Metcalfe, has shown handily taken all comers in the "Hunter" league and although the lads have played an exceptionally clean brand of ball they managed to break a leg of one of the opposition during a play-off game.

It is expected that the entire Assumption division will travel to the east coast this summer to partake of some valuable sea time and other beneficial training which will assist them in becoming full fledged Naval officers as well as qualified "men of the world". There will probably be several attractive cruises during the summer months if those of last year to England and Bermuda are any criterion.

Next year will bring another U.N.T.D. division with the new crop of freshmen and we hope that the incoming group will be much larger, it not better than this year's original division.

Christian Culture Award

Following Sigrid Undset, Jaques Maritain, Philip Murray, Frank Sheed, Arnold Walter, Henry Ford II and George Sperti, previous winners, Richard Pattee is the recipient of the 1948 Christian Culture Award Medal, which is annually given by Assumption College, "to some outstanding lay exponent of Christian ideals".

Richard Pattee, who was born forty-two years ago in Arizona, has been a former President of the American Catholic Historical Association and for five years was assistant chief of Cultural Relations of the Department of State, Washington, D.C. During the past fifteen years, he has made a remarkable contribution in the promotion of understanding between Latin America, Latin Europe, and the U.S.A.

Mr. Pattee received his formal education at the Catholic University of America, University of Louvain (Belgium) and the University of Coimbra (Portugal). His career has been a remarkably varied one which took him to most countries of the Western world and especially on the Latin scene. In 1928 he was an instructor in Political Science at the University of Puerto Rico. For the next ten years he was a good will traveller and lecturer in Brazil, Paraguay, Bolivia, etc. During the later war years, the 1948 Christian Culture Award Medalist was a visiting professor at the Universities of Laval (Quebec), Haiti, Mexico, and Middlebury College (Vermont). In 1945 he was a consultant, to the United States Delegation, at the San Francisco Conference. While serving in this capacity he doubled as a correspondent for the N.C.W.C. News Service. For almost a year he has been residing in Switzerland and serving as representative of the National Catholic Welfare Conference and its Press Service, and as a member of various International Commissions set up on the continent. Recently he spent four months in Spain giving over seventy lectures under the auspices of Spanish Catholic Action. During the next six months he will visit much of Western Europe.

The innumerable news stories and articles of this man have appeared in English, French, and Spanish editions. Among the more noteworthy are Agencia Mundial de Colaboraciones, Madrid; Revista Javeriana, Bogota, Columbia; The Month, London; and in the United States, America, The Sign, Columbia, Atlantic Monthly and Commonwealth. He is the author of "The Negro in Brazil" 1938; "Catholic Revival in Mexico" 1945; and "Catholic Life in the West Indies" 1946.

The students of Assumption College join in congratulating Richard Pattee in winning the Christian Culture Award for his outstanding work in promoting Christian ideals in the Latin-American world.

Director

The double job of Athletic Director and head Football Coach fell upon Fr. Higgins' shoulders this year—needless to say, the burden was borne well. Father Higgins is one of the best liked teachers at Assumption, and his success with the school's athletic program is the best example of his ability as a leader.

Frank DeMarco
Junior Coach and Intra-Mural Sports Director

These two coaches provided Fr. Higgins with top-notch aid in directing the grid squads. DeMarco a former player with the U. of T. and Windsor Rockets, guided the destinies of the Junior team. Callaghan was chiefly responsible for the brilliant line play of the Varsity.

Dan Callaghan
Line Coach

The ol' Redhead has been coaching Basketball at Assumption for seven years, and never has failed to produce a winning team. Red is himself a former Assumption Basketball star and also was a key man on Canada's 1936 Olympic cage entry.

VARSITY

Football Team

By BUD MERICK

The year 1947 was witness to Assumption's return to Varsity Football. Despite what seems to be an unimpressive record for its first season, the Raiders acquitted themselves quite well. They won three out of seven games. Of all the teams that returned to football for the first time since the war, Assumption did better than some 40% of the squads in the same position as the Raiders. Father Lee Higgins, the Head Coach, was faced with the problem of fielding an inexperienced team against squads that were loaded with seasoned veterans. Of the sixty candidates for the Varsity, only one, tackle Jean Hoffman, had had any experience in College ball. Thirteen were members of Assumption's Ontario Junior Champs of 1946.

From the outset, injuries plagued the team. Sam Brescia, Mike Bula, and Pat Egan were incapacitated in early season drills. Bob Temmerman, Lyle Warwick, Al Angus, Bob Cannon, Jean Hoffman, Lyle Ross, Gino Baggio and George Chater, all missed games due to injuries. Never once during the year was Father Higgins able to have the entire squad on the field at one time, whether for practice or for a game.

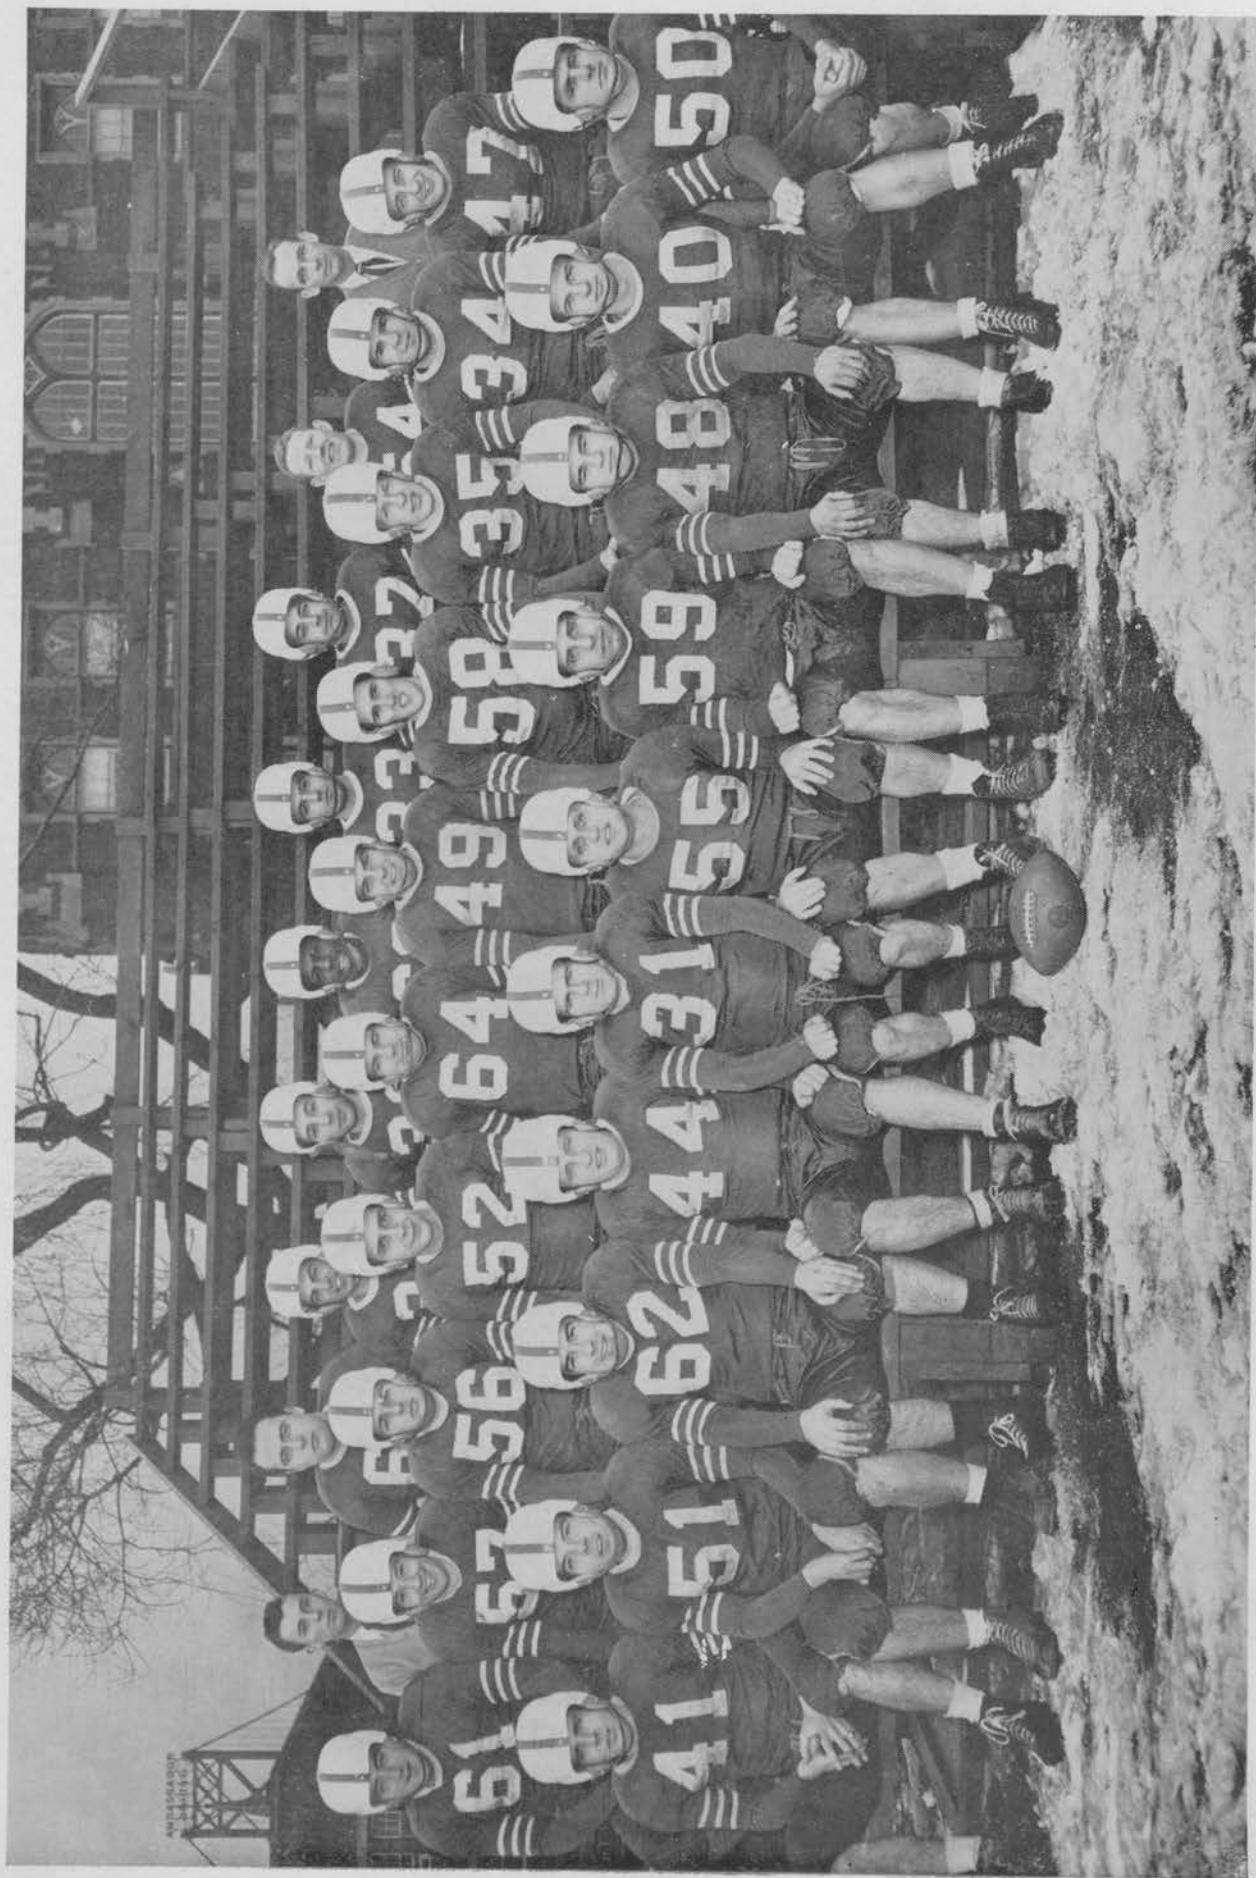

Assumption opened the season with an impressive victory over Port Huron College. A trip to Olivet proved disastrous, Olivet winning 20-0. Following a win over Detroit Tech, 12-0, three defeats were handed the Purple, by Adrian, 19-7; Defiance, 19-0; and Heidelberg, 62-0. The Raiders closed the year with a triumph over Percy Jones Hospital, 14-9.

Special praise is deserved by Co-Captain Bill Kohlman, a pillar of strength at centre; Al Angus, who developed into a terrific line-backer; Gino Baggio, an indefatigable guard; Co-Captain John Renaud, who directed the team from quarterback; Bob Temmerman, a great punter, and one of the finest all-around athletes in the school's history; Jean Hoffman, a powerful tackle, and halfbacks Jim Allison and Joe Gribben, the "Chattanooga Choo Choo". We mustn't forget Joe Connorton, Bill Clancy, Tom O'Hara, Lyle Warwick, Bob Cannon, and Glen Carpenter, either. To wind up, every man on the squad deserves credit for a job well done.

In December, Father Higgins announced that after many years of trying, Assumption had been admitted to the Canadian Intercollegiate Rugby Union. Thus, 1948 will see the Raiders competing with McMaster, OAC, Western Colts, and Toronto Seconds in the Intercollegiate Intermediate League.

JUNIOR

Football Team

By BUD MERICK

In 1947, Assumption defended its Junior O. R. F. U. title by winning six games and tying one. A muddled set-up in the League caused the Raiders to drop out of contention for the Ontario crown, after winning the City and District titles by whipping A.K.O. Juniors in a two-game total point series.

During the season, overwhelming victories were scored over Wallaceburg, 47-0 and 28-1; and Chatham, 41-0. In two games with A.K.O. during the regular season, the Purple came out on top in the first, 7-2, and tied the second, 7-7. Two playoff contests saw the Raiders trounce A.K.O. twice, by scores of 18-11 and 1-0. The latter game was played in rain, mud, and cold. The field was so slushy that after the game, the players were covered with as much as thirty pounds of mud.

Frank DeMarco, who was given complete charge of the team in mid-season, was faced with the handicap of having all of his key players perform with the Varsity as well as with the Juniors. This gave the Coach little opportunity to practice his whole squad together, and of course it meant that the players were at times overtired. The natural ability and unbeatable spirit of the players overcame these and other difficulties.

As with the Varsity, injuries were numerous. At various times, Bob Temmerman, Glen Carpenter, Gino Baggio, Tom Smith, Louis Paolotto, Joe Gribben, Lyle Ross, Art Bamann, and George Chater were out of the lineup. All of them were key men. Also Sam Brescia and Jack Graney were out for the whole year with broken bones.

As an example of how the young and inexperienced members of the squad took over for the injured veterans, we cite the case of George Murphy. "Red" was given the regular quarterback job when Louis Paolotto was sidelined. He won his spurs under fire, and came through in a blaze of glory, directing the team to four straight victories. There were others of the same class, Del Dudney, Al Bouley, Ron Taylor, Paul Ringwood, Ralph Hogge—we could go on for hours. There was the "Baby-Faced Backfield" of Paul Ringwood, Al Bouley, Fred McEwan, and George Murphy; and Lineman George Chater and Andy Harcar, both Freshmen, who made the first team.

Of the veterans, we can't forget Bob Temmerman, the best kicker in Canada, and a fine runner and passer; Gino Baggio, Glen Carpenter, Dick Hayward, John Foley, Joe Connorton, Bob Finewood, the mainstays of a line that had only three touchdowns scored against them all season; Gribben and Ross, a pair of fine backs; Paolotto, the master-mind field general, and many others.

If you compare the handicaps that faced the team, against the fine record that they compiled, you will likely come to the same conclusion that Assumption fans arrived at—the 1947 Edition of the Assumption Junior Purple Raiders was TERRIFIC.

HIGHLIGHTS of the FOOTBALL SEASON

Varsity Basketball

By NEIL HAFLEY

Comparing the results of last year's basketball team and this year's current edition, it would seem that this year had been a very bleak year on the hardwood for the Purple and White Raiders. Many facts, however, must be brought into consideration. Firstly, the schedule this year was much harder. Bowling Green, University of Toledo, a strengthened Western five, Wayne, to mention a few, provided competent opposition. Secondly, Assumption lost Ado Rorai, Bill Coulthard, and Hank Lally. The first two mentioned provided the height for last year's team which was lacking this year. Thirdly, the reserves last year were more experienced as many freshmen were introduced to the line-up this year.

But let's look at the present. It wasn't all tears and crying towels for Assumption by any means. Freddy Thomas had one of his greatest years, again. In 22 games, the sepia sensation swished 425 points through the twines, for a 19.3 per game average. This raised his three-year total point production to 1,437, a record that will remain on the books until Freddy breaks it in his next game. But a record that will stand for a long, long time is the 42 points scored against Percy Jones by Thomas.

Another bright spot this year was Tommy O'Hara's dazzling display of ball handling and passing. When Freddy Thomas was out for a few games as a result of an injury, Tommy supplied the needed scoring punch. Against Defiance, he tied the game several times and scored the winning basket in overtime, to bucket 18 points in all that night. Bill Kohlman, strong man of the Purple and White defence, found a mate this year under the backboards in Freshman Len Wisniewski. This pair saved many a game by out-jumping the taller opposition for those all important rebounds. Len picked up valuable experience this year after graduating from All-City fame in Detroit. Woody Campbell rounded out the Varsity. His well developed long shot dumped the ball for many baskets during the season. An adept ball handler, Woody fitted in well with the other four.

Chuck Tolmie, Frank Marchand, Bill Fisher, Pat Harrison, and Don Lerch made up the Big Five for substitutions. Tolmie is one of the best ball handlers on the team and is equipped with an almost certain hook shot. But Chuck, as many of the others are too, is limited in his action because of his short stature. Frank Marchand was troubled by injuries which kept him out of the line up for a number of games. When he was present, however, he made himself known by dropping many shots from all angles. Fisher, Harrison, and Lerch played steady ball and filled in capably when relieving the starters.

What does the future hold? Right now it looks very bright. The starting five will be back intact next year. There will be new additions to the squad which will strengthen it. The freshmen of this year, with a season's experience under their jerseys, will show much better. On the whole, next year, looking at it from this year, should produce another great Assumption team to take its place with the others.

Assumption College Bees

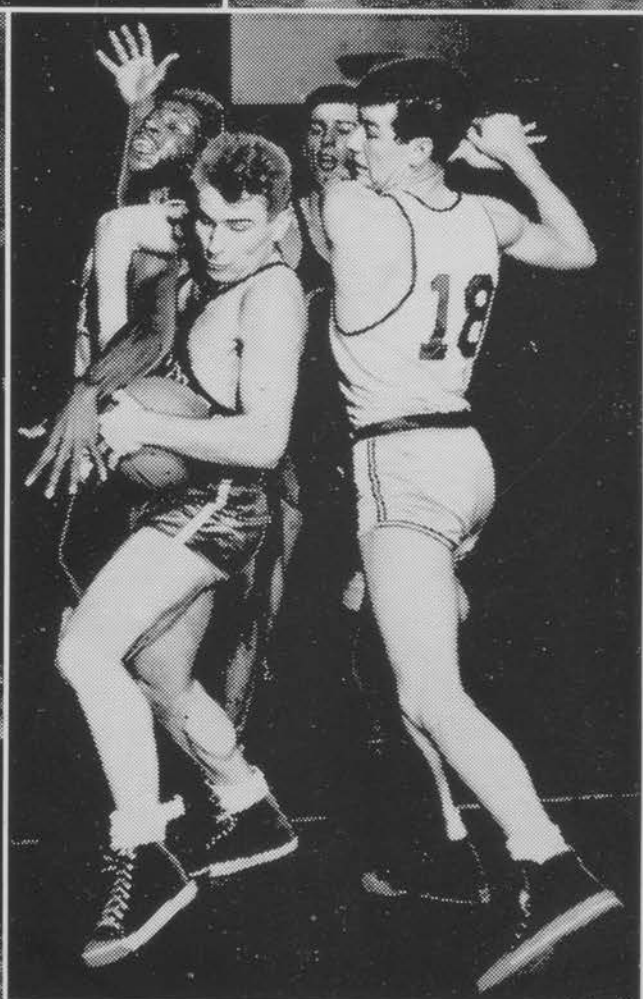

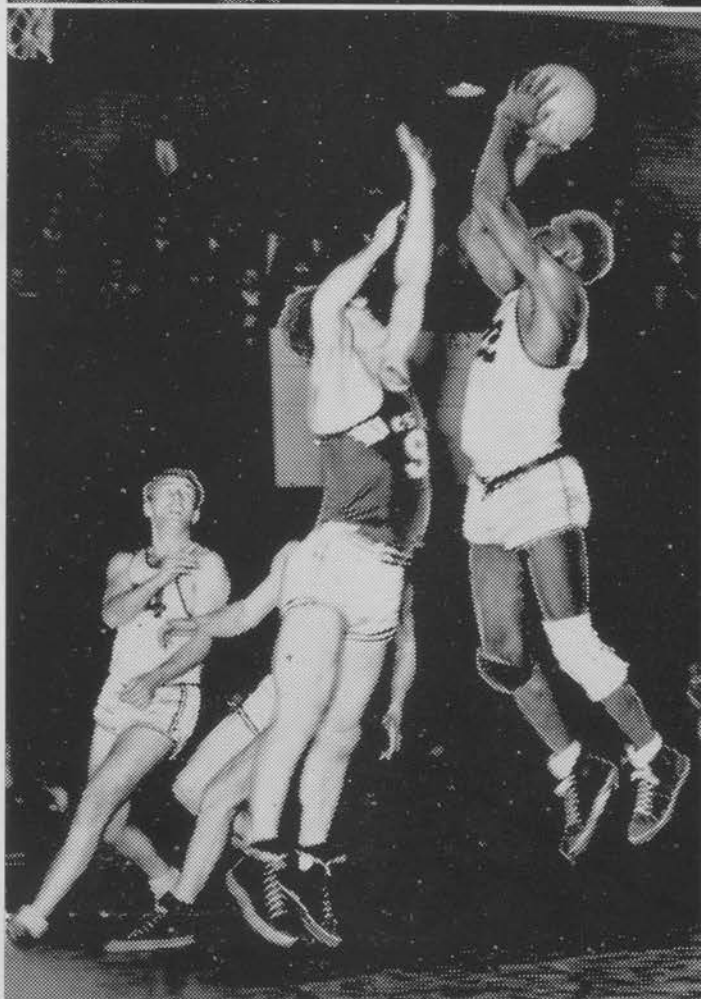

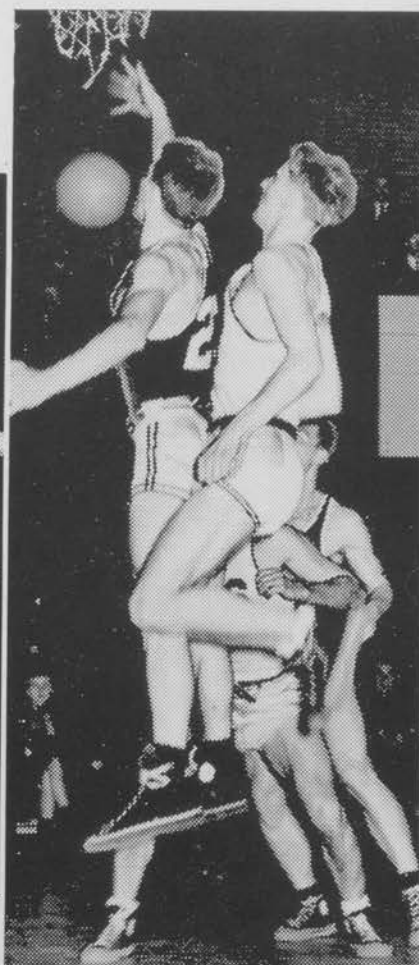

This intermediate division of the Assumption basketball programme provided the school with its most successful team. The squad comprises for the most part the Varsity seconds. Their impressive record of eleven wins against one loss was the best season total of any of the school's representatives this year. Stellar performances were recorded by Chuck Tolmie who scored twenty-nine points in one game against Amherstburg and Frank Marchand had two exceptional nights when he scored more than a score of baskets.

In regular league competition the 'Bees' were undefeated and after winning the Intermediate 'A' competition for the city retired from the balance of post season play due to the proximity of examinations. Had it not been for this fact we might have had a championship team.

Supplying the opposition for the Varsity regulars in practice the intermediates picked up the added finesse which will make them important cogs in the Varsity wheel when the '48-49 season rolls around.

The two most important games of the season were played with the "Western Colts"—the rivalry between the clubs is only exceeded by that of the Varsity and the "Mustangs". The outcome of the home-and-home series ended in a draw. The Londoners took the first game in a thrilling 44-43 overtime contest while the locals proved their mettle by equalizing the series in another hard fought battle 50-45 here. Assumption, in winning the second game, is endeavouring to build up another jinx which they held over their arch rivals for the past two seasons.

Intramural Sports

The intramural basketball loop enjoyed a highly successful season this year when more than eighty enthusiasts competed for positions on eight teams. There were fifty scheduled league fixtures plus playoffs. The brand of ball was very good with the four top teams providing stellar play, especially in the post season competition.

Rockets and Sandwich won the semi-finals in three games and after a bitter fight the Rockets emerged as the deserving champions. Their combination of a balanced squad and fine team spirit proved to be the deciding factor.

If an all-star team were to be picked the result would be quite a formidable group capable of competition in any city league. The Rockets would supply Don Zeller, Jim O'Neill, and Bill Reynolds who organized the team. Sandwich had Bill Lavey, Vic Guzzetta, and Tiny Mitzel. The Boarders could offer Tom Harrington and George Taliento. The Staff had Don Berner, Paul Donaher and Gene Oser who many claim could make the Varsity if scholastics were allowed to play intercollegiate. The last place record breaking (winless) Casinos had John Foley who tried his best to mar the amazing record of no wins in two years, and nearly succeeded single handedly a couple of times.

Although the Junior basketball team is not specifically engaged in intramural competition they are not exactly juniors in the strict sense. The team was comprised of aspirants to future Varsity teams and were recruited from the intramural ranks. The team did not enter any league (old age) but they did play a series of exhibition games which saw them beat Ford Office Juniors and Boys Town. They also lost two thrillers to A.K.O. Juniors who advanced to the O.B.A. playdowns.

The Intramural Hockey Championship this year was jointly held by the Orphans and the Juniors who were unable to playoff due to ice difficulties at the local arena. The Seniors and the Sophomores were eliminated in the semi-finals and the Freshmen failed to make the playoffs.

Starring for the Orphans, who finished first in the final standing, were Tony Simon at centre, Vince Pare at left-wing and Dan Couglin in goal. Forwards like Gene Oser, Ed O'Reilly, Pat Lalonde and Vince Crowley and defencemen like Dennie Rowan, Frank O'Grady, Frank Quinn, Larry Janisse, Don Berner, Frank DeMarco and Art Hathaway gave the team a lot of balance which proved to be a big factor in carrying them to a championship.

The Juniors were blessed with such men as Frank Foster, Leo Morand, Joe Schiller, Curly Reaume, and Guy Dumont in the starting lineup. These players were backed up by such stalwarts as: Erie Deodati, "Killer" Boak, Ossie Caretti, and Bill McAuliffe. Their only regret is that they were robbed by fate to knock off the pace setting Orphans in the finals.

The Seniors ended up in third place but if their quantity had been as great as their quality the final readings might have been as great as their quality the final readings might have been different. Prominent in their play were the brothers: Joe and Tom McMahon, Ed Deschaine, Elmer Awrey, Roy Cook and Les Ladouceur.

The Sophomores always played a bruising game win or lose. Led by Dick (Grab) Hayward and Wally Malone they upset the apple cart several times even if it did not show in the win column. They were ably assisted by Glen Carpenter, Paul Marentette, Bill Fischer and Paul LaFleur.

What the Freshmen lacked in ability they made up in desire but desire was not enough to lift them out of the cellar. Their lineup included: Red Cleary, John Durocher, Don Baikie, Lyle Ross, Jim Crossley, Ron Taylor, Ron Morissette and Gene O'Reilly.

Boxing Club

With the small of resin, the glare of the ring lights, the roar of the crowd and the ringing bell, Assumption emerged from four years of boxing retirement.

The "manly art" lay dormant during the war years but was quickly revived by active interest. Now in its embryonic stage the club promises to mature rapidly.

The purpose of the organization is twofold: to form an intercollegiate team to represent the college and to instruct those who desire it in the fundamentals of boxing, a sport which conditions both body and mind to be alert and active.

Because it was started late in the season few bouts have been signed. At this time one has taken place and our team did notably well making up in spirit what it lacked in experience.

There is much talent in the school and it is to be hoped that next year the schedule will be full with victories to match.

Our thanks to the fellows who made the team this year a success and to those who will be the backbone of future teams.

A Message to Class '48

*"As it was better, youth
Should strive, through acts uncouth,
Toward making, than repose on aught found made" . . .*

How well Browning has expressed the tendency of the graduate to rest on her laurels, to consider her degree the end rather than the means! But graduation is not the end: rather it should be the beginning of a planned and integrated Christian life. And stabilizing that plan should be the solid principles on which our education has been founded.

Dear friends, let us remember "The best is yet to be", for, in very truth,

*"Our times are in His hand
Who saith 'A whole I planned,
Youth shows but half; trust
God: see all, nor be afraid!'"*
